Prepare yourself for the ultimate adrenaline rush with CLAWPUNK, a pulse-pounding, melee-focused 2D action game, infused with roguelite elements and an array of badass cat characters. Players must tear through a fully destructible environment, switching between a squad of nine furious feline characters that can lay waste to each zone in their own unique styles.

Each level is carefully crafted to adapt to different playstyles and skill sets, with players able to speed-run through areas, or take a more aggressive approach by taking out enemies via a host of devastating melee attacks or arsenal of ranged weapons.

"Megabit is the perfect partner to help bring CLAWPUNK to a global audience" said Jamie White, Director and Lead Programmer at Kittens in Timespace. "They truly understand our vision for CLAWPUNK, a radical new action game with roguelite elements, that gives the player incredible freedom to approach each level in a variety of ways. It's also no surprise that we love cats at Kittens in Timespace, so this game is a one-of-a-kind love letter to our badass feline friends out there".

With collectible cards and the freedom to tackle the first four zones in any order, CLAWPUNK lets players approach this heart-pounding adventure however they wish. Oozing with a vibrant retro punk-inspired style and complete with a hard metal soundtrack, this is one wild visit to Feral City that won't be easy to forget.
